

Kentucky Freedom Digest

A Multi-Partisan Weekly Serving the Entire Kentucky Freedom Community.

Joshua Koch, Editor

All content is the responsibility of the submitters.

Volume 1, Number 1
November 12, 2009

LIBERATEM PER ADIUMENTIUM MUTUUM

Third Parties in American Politics

by Ken Moellman (ken.moellman@lpky.org)

This column will be used to explore third parties. As the leader of a State Affiliate of a Third Party, I believe that I can provide insight that others may not have. And if nothing else, we'll have trivia questions throughout the article, with which you can impress your politically uninvolved friends, to get them to slowly get involved in politics, in a fun way.

In the coming weeks, we will explore the existence and relevance of third parties. To do this, we will go back to the foundation of the country, and approach this historically. We will examine the nuances during various eras in American politics, and determine what role, if any, the Third Party plays today.

See LPKY on Page 2>>>

Where's your group or campaign?

send submissions to :

kyfreedomdigest@gmail.com

We are seeking letters to the editor, pictures, art, editorials, articles, and other submissions. If you think your group, campaign, or think tank needs representation here, email your submissions to kyfreedomdigest@gmail.com.

Page 1

Dr. Rand Paul, Republican Senate Candidate, Addresses a standing-room-only crowd at Eastern Kentucky University. Campaign updates on page 2. Photo: Editor.

BIPPS In Action

By Kelly L. Smith, Director of Development
(ksmith@freedomkentucky.com)

The Bluegrass Institute is working to become Kentucky's hub for liberty information to empower Kentuckian's to take back their freedoms. We launched FreedomKentucky.org this year, a liberty wiki that documents the issues that concern Kentuckian's most. We've been able to upload the check registers, audits and budgets of many of the state's school districts, as well as many city and state agencies via Kentucky Open Records requests to FreedomKentucky.org. Anyone can log in and contribute an article so become a "citizen journalist" today by documenting the issues that you feel most strongly limit your freedom.

See BIPPS on Page 2>>>

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Rand at Fayette CO GOP

The breakfast is sponsored by the Republican Party of Fayette County. Where: The Hilton Suites at Lexington Green When: Saturday, November 14th. Doors open at 9:00 a.m., program begins at 9:30 a.m. Cost: $10. RSVP required: 859-254-3532 or rpfc@windstream.net.

Rand Lexington Town Hall

The event will be held in the Ballroom at the Hilton Suites Lexington Green at 245 Lexington Green Circle, Lexington, KY. The date and time for the Town Hall will remain on the same schedule of Saturday, November 14, at 11:30 a.m.

Rand Town Hall Mount Sterling

Dr. Rand Paul will hold a Town Hall for concerned citizens of Montgomery County in Mount Sterling. Start Time: Saturday, November 14 at 4:00pm Where: McNabb Middle School

Rand at VFW District 8

Time: 1:00 PM

Dr. Rand Paul will attend the Veterans of Foreign Wars District 8 meeting. Location: 155

Owenstown Schoolhouse Rd Russell Springs, Ky 42642

Rand in Elizabethtown, KY

Dr. Paul will meet with leaders of the Tea Party group in Elizabethtown. November 17 at 6pm CT at Stonehearth Restaurant.

Rand KACo Candidates Forum

Dr. Rand Paul will join other candidates and elected officials at the KACo "Candidates Forum" on November 19 at 9:30 A.M.

---

BIPPS, From Page 1

Earlier this year, we sponsored Tax Liberation Day in Lexington where 1,000 citizens came out in support of a more limited government responsible to the people. Also, the voice of school choice in D.C., Virginia Walden Ford, came to Louisville to speak out on behalf of students trapped in failing public schools and to help us build an army of parents, pastors and community leaders dedicated to bringing charter schools to Kentucky. We believe vital momentum is building toward the 2010 legislative session on this issue. Kentucky is one of ten states that do not have any form of school choice. Our event calendar for 2010 can be accessed at www.bipps.org/events.

Finally, we launched Operation Kentucky 1792 at www.Kentucky1792.org. There is power in numbers and we are working with a network of free market, liberty based think tanks around the nation to combat the huge federal bureaucracy tsunami that is headed our way. Now more than ever we need your involvement. www.Kentucky1792.org.

Register "R" for Rand Project 180°

By Christi Gillespie
(christi@randpaul2010.com)

We are seeking all Liberty-minded individuals, regardless of party affiliation, to change their registration to Republican for 180 days. In order to vote for Rand Paul in the Republican primary for U.S. Senate, you must re-register by December 31st of this year.

If we are to bring about the 180° change we all wish to see in our government, we must start first by electing those candidates who will uphold and defend the Constitution! Dr. Rand Paul is a constitutional conservative who supports term limits, refuses to accept unbalanced budgets, and supports free-market solutions in healthcare.

If "We the People" are to have a choice in November, "We the People" then must select the candidate who best represents our values and constitutional principles in the May primary. Change starts at the ballot box, and we must elect Rand Paul as Kentucky's next Senator to preserve the Liberties we all hold dear.

---

LPKY, From Page 1

In the mean time, I leave you, the readers, with the first two trivia questions:

Who was the first woman to receive an electoral vote?

Why are there 435 members of the US House of Representatives?

We'll answer this question, and more, in the coming weeks.

Ken Moellman is the chair of the LPKY. He was elected as the State Executive Committee Chairman of the Libertarian Party of Kentucky in 2007, and was re-elected in 2009. Prior to that, he served as the LPKY District 4 Representative, from 2006 to 2007.